Learning Outcomes

By the end of this unit, students will be able to:

- LO1: Understand the internal and external factors that need to be considered in blending marketing mix components to achieve organisational objectives.
- LO2: Understand the digital environment and the influence it has on marketing activity and consumers.

Overview of the Assessment

The module (unit) consists of four learning outcomes and this assessment is set to achieve learning outcomes 1 and 2.

Scenario: Driving Digital Presence and Marketing

In today's fast-paced digital world, the landscape of marketing is constantly evolving. To stay ahead of the game, businesses should not only keep up with the current trends but also anticipate what the future holds. The digital marketing landscape in the future will be driven by advancements in technology and changing consumer behaviours. One trend that is expected to dominate is the increasing role of artificial intelligence (AI) in digital marketing. AI-powered tools and algorithms will revolutionise how businesses reach and engage with their target audience. AI revolutionises customer-business interaction with advanced chatbots offering human-like accuracy. They provide instant support and tailored recommendations, enhancing the customer experience for higher satisfaction and loyalty.

Task: Digital Audit Report

You are required to conduct in-depth research to produce a 'Digital Strategy Report' for a selected organisation in the Sri Lankan context. This involves analysing the organisation's digital presence, understanding the local digital landscape, identifying digital techniques and technologies incorporated in the marketing activities.

Guidelines Notes

Your report shall include the following:

1. Introduction to blended marketing mix
2. Factors that influence blended marketing mix
3. Influence of digital technologies on marketing decisions
4. Digital marketing to achieve organisational objectives
5. Integration of extended marketing mix
6. Digital technologies and consumer outcomes
